

TRADITIONAL COSTUMES – "TÖLZER SCHÜTZ"

Hand painted

Design: Resl Schröder-Lechner, 1937

height 24 cm · product no. 01.811

With the opening of the Alps to tourists in the 19th century, the traditional inhabitants, with their fine garb, also became a subject of artistic interest. This 24-centimetre-tall Tölz Rifleman by Resl Schröder-Lechner from 1937 is among the Manufactory's accurate designs in every detail. The sculptress primarily based her painting of down-to-earth, rural types on real historical clothing. And although today, frack coats have only half as many buttons, the mountain rifleman's outfit remains virtually unchanged to this day.
